Published This Day: TRENCH, GERMAN, SPANISH, LATIN, and ITALIAN LANGUAGES WITHOUT, MASTER,

Any one or all of these Languages can be learned by any one without a Teacher, with the aid of this Book,

By A. H. MONTRITH, coq., Published This Day by T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS,

No. 366 CHESTNUT-ST., PHILADELPHIA, And for sale by all booksellers in New-York.

German, Spanish, Latin, and Italian Languages without the aid of a teacher, has, for the last ten years, been successfully tasted of a teacher, has, for the last ten years, been successfully tested throughout the whole European Continent; and is, without a single exception, used in teaching the modern languages in all the educational institutions of England, France, and Germany. In London, Mr. A. H. Monteith, the most celebrated teacher of In London, Mr. A. H. Montent, the now celevations assessed and perfected this system; and his works on the study of FRENCH, GERMAN, SPANISH, LATIN, and ITALIAN, without a master, contained in this volume, immediately obtained a sudden and extraordinary popularity. Any persons unacqualated with these languages can, with the aid of this volume; be enabled to road, write, and speak, the passed over without a thorough investigation of the subject it involves; by doing which they will find themselves to be able to speak, read, or write, either language, at their will and pleasure. The tohole is contained in Twenty-Seven Easy Lessons. The Twenty-Seven in all. This work is invaluable to any perso wishing to learn either or all of these languages, and is worth to any one one hundred times its cost. This work has already run through several large editions in England, for no persons have ever bought a copy of it without recommending it to their friends. Everybody should possess themselves of a copy of it at

Read what Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, the Literary Editor of The Philadelphia Daily Press, says of it editorially in tha

"There is no royal road to learning; but where the learner heavily dragged on his lumbering way in former times, he now has a new trace Told wonderful engines, which greatly holitate his progress. Study this book carefully, and you can acquire near half a dozen languages in the time usually wasted upon the imperfect acquisition of one. Sadly, as well as wirely, did Milton write. We do amise to spend seven or eight years merely in scraping together as much Latin and Greek as might be learned easily and delightfully in one year. John Locke, Sydney Smith, and other great scheiars, bear like testimony.

"Monteith's book, here before us, professes to make any one of reasonable capacity and suitable industry read, write, and speak five languages (four of them living tongues), without any assistance from a teacher. Elinu Burritis case shows how intellect and the desire to learn can make a man master the principal dead and living languages. This book, sad a real desire to learn the language, will enable a student to teach himself French in an incredibly short time; and so with the other languages. The Mesars. Feterson confer a great benefit on society by publishing this book."

THE LONDON CRITIC reviews the SPEECH—
ES of ABRAHAM LINCOLN. In the course of its article occurs the following passage: "It is from the speeches which Mr. Lincoln has from time to time delivered in opposition to Mr. Douglas, that we gather some idea of his mental qualifications. We collect from the speeches of Mr. Lincoln that he has a mind rather of the straightforward than of the subtle order; that he rather series upon great and prominent facts and argues them to plain or notusions, than builds up elegant but fragile theories upon the tracherous basis of fanciful speculation, that he is carriest and commanding more than persuasive. 25 cents per month, or $3 per annum.
